Baxie talks to New Wave icon Josie Cotton! In 1981, Josie scored a hit with the early MTV classic "Johnny Are You Queer?". This was a single that, in spite of the controversy surrounding it, had been used in several film soundtracks—including 1983's Valley Girl with Nicholas Cage. But the story behind that single is absolutely amazing! And the story behind Josie's legendary career is even more fascinating! Be sure to check out her latest album, "Day of the Gun"! It's an absolute blast! In fact, it might just be the best album of her career! Prepare yourself for a good one! Listen to the interview on Apple Podcasts, SoundCloud, Stitcher, Google Podcasts, Spotify, and on the Rock102 website!
